No one is talking about Hermes vs Rothschild aka MetaBirkins... The jury found that NFTs are more akin to consumer products therefore subject to Trademark laws. Big precedent for artists.

The jury found that the art was created by infringing TMs to mislead/confuse consumers for $. It said nothing about NFTs. That waives 1st. amend. This verdict protects digital artists in the metaverse who create works (for profit) with honest intent. It should be celebrated.

The Art were in the form of NFTs. It was argued that it's no different than Andy Warhol's silk screen prints of Campbell's soup cans. It was an artistic experiment with no intentions of misleading consumers that it was part of the actual brand.

Know they were attached to NFTs but that had nothing to do with the verdict. The jpgs attached infringed on a TM. Totally different than Warhol. Warhol had the blessing of Campbell's. And his artistic intent was never misleading.
